This November, our core rights and freedoms are on the ballot, including the right to bodily and life autonomy, the freedom to parent our children according to our values, the right to vote and participate in our democracy, and the freedom to be each of our most authentic selves.

Tune in virtually to the ACLU of Oregon's Annual Meeting on Tuesday, October 29, and learn about how the ACLU of Oregon is prepared to move forward together, no matter what happens in November and after.

The ACLU of Oregon is working together with partner organizations to preserve our democracy and the civil liberties and civil rights of ALL Oregonians. Join us to engage in and support this work!

Last month, we got together with over 100 trusted community partners, advocates, and service providers from across the state and spent the day in the community – strategizing and getting aligned for the upcoming presidential election and the work ahead. Read our latest blog for a recap of the day's takeaways.

Regardless of who is elected in November, we must be prepared to respond with timeliness and intentionality to meet the needs of our communities, especially the communities who are most vulnerable to extremist court decisions, government aggression, and regressive local, state, and federal policies. Register for our virtual annual meeting to hear more about this critical work.

We hope to see you there,

ACLU of Oregon
